MISSING SOLDIERS RETURN TO FIND WIVES REMARRIED

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—In the release of 1,500 Canadian soldiers from German prison camps the sad story of Enoch Arden is to be repeated. The men, who were first reported as missing and later as dead, have been located in Germany since the signing of the armistice and are now going through the process of repatriation. They will soon return to Canada. Many of these soldiers have been missing since the battle of Ypres, the battle at that historic village when Germans used poison gas for the first time, and have been given up long since as dead by relatives, friends and the war records office. The German authorities never reported them and, for reasons best known to the home themselves, all letters they wrote never got outside of Germany. A report on the whole matter is being prepared that is expected to clear up the mystery of their long silence. It is presumed that they must have been confined to certain camps where the German officers and guards were particularly brutal or else the men were, in violation of international war regulations, refused to report them. Reports have been received at Ottawa already

RESTRICTIONS LIFTED FROM ANTHRACITE COAL

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31.—Under the order made recently by the anthracite committee of the United States fuel administration, anthracite of any and all sizes, other than stove and nut, may now be shipped anywhere throughout the entire country and to any amount called for. The order, issued to anthracite producers and distributors through Secretary Grier rules that "all restrictions as to shipments of grate or broken coal and other sizes smaller than pea to territories now embargoed or states now zoned out of anthracite coal, are removed and that it will be permissible to ship any of these sizes to such markets as can be found for them."

ARCTIC RAILWAY MAY NOT BE COMPLETED THIS YEAR

THE PAS, Manitoba, Jan. 31.—Announcement that work on the Hudson Bay railroad may not be resumed this year has caused disappointment in communities on the fringe of civilization. It is expected that pressure will be brought to bear on the government to push through the work. The road will cost about $4,000,000 to complete, it is said. The route is north from here to Port Nelson, which may be the metropolis of the inland Arctic. Three hundred and forty-two miles of road have been built. The final stretch is 32 miles. It is claimed that difficulty in obtaining steel rails has halted the work. The railroad was built to provide a route for the fur business and to tap the mineral resources of a great section bordering on the Arctic. This district is virtually devoid of timber.

"SLIGHT" CAUSE.

One morning Mr. Smith was heard talking to himself while making his morning toilet in manner that denoted much perturbation. "I wonder," said Mrs. Smith, "what's provoked father now?" "Oh, it's nothing much, mother," answered little William. "I just put a tube of sister's nail points in place of his tube of tooth paste."

Work With Novel Balloon Gas Gets Scientist Medal

DR. FREDERICK G. COTTRELL. Dr. Frederick G. Cottrell, chief metallurgist of the United States Bureau of Mines, has received the Perkins medal for distinguished services in applied chemistry. He is the discoverer of a new process of obtaining helium from the air. Helium is a recently discovered gas, which is meeting the demand of the army air service for a non-inflammable filler for balloons and dirigible bags. It is said to be slightly inferior for aerobion purposes to the hydrogen gas now used, but its non-inflammability makes it invaluable to the army.

WRONG IDEAS.

"Charles, dear," said young Mrs. Torrens, "are we going to have freedom of the sea?" "Why are you so interested?" "I haven't forgotten the way we were treated at the beach last summer. I don't believe anybody has a right to rope off the ocean and then charge you 50 cents for the privilege of taking a bath in it."

No Camouflage In This Story

Says corns stop hurting, then lift right off without one bit of pain. Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lockjaw or blood poisoning, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freeze-one costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus without even one little twinge of pain. You simply apply a few drops of this freeze-one on a tender, aching corn and the soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, with your fingers. This drug is sticky, but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without lancing or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this. adv.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS MANY ACCOUNTANTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—The war is practically ended, the war work is not. The tremendous labor of the details of adjusting the accounts and paying the bills will occupy the time of a large force for many months to come. The ordinance department alone is in need of 200 senior cost accountants at salaries of $2,200 to $4,200 a year; 200 junior cost accountants at salaries of $1,200 to $2,000 a year, and 300 clerks qualified in accounting at salaries of $1,000 to $1,800 a year, for service throughout the United States and at the headquarters at Washington. The collection of the income tax also calls for more accountants. The income tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue is in need of traveling auditors and resident auditors at salaries ranging from $1,800 to $4,500 a year. The United States civil service commission is receiving applications for these positions. Applicants will not be required to report at any place for examination, but will be rated upon their physical ability, education, training and experience, based upon the sworn statements in their applications and upon corroborative evidence adduced by the commission. Application blanks and full information may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice or custom house in any city, or by communicating with the United States civil service commission, Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 31.—The war is practically ended, the war work is not. The tremendous labor of the details of adjusting the accounts and paying the bills will occupy the time of a large force for many months to come. The ordinance department alone is in need of 200 senior cost accountants at salaries of $2,200 to $4,200 a year; 200 junior cost accountants at salaries of $1,200 to $2,000 a year, and 300 clerks qualified in accounting at salaries of $1,000 to $1,800 a year, for service throughout the United States and at the headquarters at Washington. The collection of the income tax also calls for more accountants. The income tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue is in need of traveling auditors and resident auditors at salaries ranging from $1,800 to $4,500 a year. The United States civil service commission is receiving applications for these positions. Applicants will not be required to report at any place for examination, but will be rated upon their physical ability, education, training and experience, based upon the sworn statements in their applications and upon corroborative evidence adduced by the commission. Application blanks and full information may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice or custom house in any city, or by communicating with the United States civil service commission, Washington.
